Carnegie's First $400 A $500,000,000 Baby Peace, And There Is None Says Dr. S. to Gov. Smith

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

"ANDREW CARNEGIE made his first $400 without spending a cent." That's how big fortunes often start.

Carnegie bought $400 of insurance stock, gave his note in payment, paid for the stock with its dividends, owned it for nothing.

Joseph P. Day, learned land scientist, says the three greatest letters in the alphabet are "O. P. M.," meaning "Other people's money."

A quicker way to make money without capital is to have a good idea and push it. A way to plate metallic surfaces with aluminum, something hitherto found impossible, is discovered and involves actually billions of dollars to be saved.

The invention will be applied to endless uses, from kitchenware to locomotives, and is expected to give automobiles a finish defying time and weather.

There are as good ideas in the human brain as ever came out of it. Try to find one.

Sears, Roebuck stockholders yesterday voted to increase capital stock by 800,000 shares. At market prices the company is worth more than $500,000,000. Julius Rosenwald hardly expected that when he took hold of the company a few years ago.

Compared with other companies, General Motors, Standard Oil, U. S. Steel, etc., Sears, Roebuck is only a baby. We have the four-billion-dollar stock company. When will the $100,000,000,000 company arrive?

Soon our able Secretary of State, Mr. Kellogg, will be in Paris discussing the pact to prevent war.

In the meanwhile, Japan notifies China that she will have war in a hurry if she doesn't stop her nonsense about repudiating treaties. When you read "direct action is hinted," you are reading a plain threat of war.

Peace pacts are fine when they don't interfere with some big power's war plan. Britain and the United States at least are perfectly sincere in their desire to avoid war.

They have got all they want, all they can take care of, and their desire is to be let alone.

Governor Smith sensibly insists that he be allowed to answer the reverend Baptist preacher, Dr. Straton, from the Baptist pulpit where the clergyman attacked him.

The Rev. Dr. Straton wanted to hire Madison Square Garden for a big crowd. Governor Smith said: "No, I will reply to you where you attacked me."

Now Dr. Straton, conquering his aversion to publicity, says he will let Governor Smith answer from Dr. Straton's Baptist pulpit, provided Dr. Straton can repeat the debate in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Cathedral, on Fifth avenue.

That seems out of line—first, because Governor Smith has nothing to do with the management of St. Patrick's cathedral and second, because nobody was attacked in St. Patrick's cathedral. It will be an interesting debate.

But Will Rogers says: "In the old days Governor Smith would have kidded that off with one wise crack."

That might be a wise thing for Governor Smith, who is busy, to do now.

Brave men lost their lives in that Italian submarine, cut in two as it rose in the path of a destroyer. The last message from the men read, "We are all gathered in the prow, gas is advancing inexorably, we are dying, long live . . ."

Nobody will know the missing word. But it was surely one of these three, Italy, Mussolini, Fascismo. Probably "Italy," with Mussolini and Fascismo in mind.

Crippled Boats Beached After Boston Harbor Collision

STEAMER NANTASKET DAMAGED IN CRASH

Photo shows the Nantasket beached on Gallup Island following a collision with a fishing sloop early today. No lives were lost. The crew remained aboard the Nantasket, although her seams were opened and she was taking on considerable water.

FISHING SLOOP HAS 20-FOOT HOLE IN SIDE

The fishing schooner, Isabelle Parker, beached on Gallup Island after the collision with the Nantasket stove a 20-foot hole in her below the waterline. The crew was taken off for it was feared the boat would sink.

FISHING SLOOP RAMMED BY NANTASKET LINER IN FOG; BOTH BEACHED

The Nantasket Beach Steamboat Company's steamer Nantasket, bound light to Pemberton, and the Boston fishing sloop Isabelle Parker, for the Fish Pier with 30,000 pounds of groundfish aboard, crashed today off Gallup's island.

Both vessels were beached, the schooner with a 20-foot hole beneath her waterline amidships, and the Nantasket taking water through an opening in her stem.

In another accident the Japanese freighter Japanese Prince, bound for New York from down and sunk scow No. 57, owned by G. H. Brayman & Bros., East Boston and Winthrop contractors, in the North Channel, off Finn's Ledge.

The scow, with no one aboard, was tied up to the dredger Eugene, which was set at work on a government dredging operation in the channel. The Japanese Prince was undamaged and proceeded on her course after passing a report to her agents in this city.

As the Nantasket and the Parker were beached on the island the schooner was in a sinking condition with a 20-foot hole beneath the Please Turn to Page 2, Column 4.

GIRL BOOTLEGS GET BY LIQUOR BLOCKADE

Young women and girls, with liquor concealed in their clothing, are running the police blockade of "Brickbottom" and the "Gold Coast," the authorities learned today.

Special orders for the apprehension of female bootleggers in the district were issued by Capt. Timothy F. Leahy of the East Cambridge police.

The girls, Capt. Leahy charged, are running liquor through the blockade of state troopers and special police details over the "Gold Coast" line from Somerville into Cambridge, where they are supplying male bootleggers, who dispense the stuff in alleyways and upon the street.

With instructions to be on the watch for bootleggers of the fair sex, Patrolman Timothy J. Callahan was given a roving patrol in the Cambridge "Gold Coast" section after he had arrested one of three alleged bootleggers following a struggle at Warren and Cambridge sts.

Attempting the arrest of all three, Patrolman Callahan made one a cap- Please Turn to Page 2, Column 7.

TUNNEY WINS WAY INTO '400' SOCIAL REGISTER

South Bridge, Me., Aug. 10—Gene Tunney, after a campaign that for stark, reckless courage eclipsed anything he attempted in the prize ring, is being accepted by the "400."

Tunney quickly won his fight to be ensconced in the Social Register. The young heiress who the retired champion will wed within the next few months, has been listed in the Social Register for years. So, too, have been all the members of her family.

Tunney, born of parents who emigrated to this country from England and Ireland, was anxious that he be the social peer of his bride-elect, and for this reason he had engaged a social secretary.

Meanwhile Tunney and his fiancee, Miss Mary Josephine Lauder, heiress to the millions made by her father through his friendship with Andrew Carnegie, are pressing their courtship on the beautiful island here. A force of armed guards are Please Turn to Page 2, Column 1.

CALIFORNIA CREW WINS WORLD TITLE

Sloten, Holland, Aug. 10 (AP)—University of California eight-oared crew won the blue ribbon event of the Olympic rowing regatta for the United States today, defeating the English eight in the final for the world's championship.

California took the lead early in the race and held it all the way.

At 250 meters the prows were level with both eights hitting a high beat. At 500 the Californians were a quarter of a length ahead and the margin was slightly more than this at 1000 meters, the half-way point.

At 1500, the Golden Bears led by one length and the furious British stroke drive could get back only a quarter-length of this.

(For other Olympic news, see Page 14.)

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET IS HEAVY

Prices in Wall Street developed a heavy tone in the closing period today. Chrysler, following wiring of a "tip" from Broadway, rose to 90 3-8, up 5 3-8. Dodge preferred set a new high at 91, up 5 5-8. General Motors sold off nearly $4 a share before rallying.

WOMAN KILLED, 3 HURT WHEN AUTO SKIDS

Bridgeport, Aug. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Gadar Sarajian, 65, of Ridgefield Park, N. J., was almost instantly killed and three others injured today when a sedan in which they were traveling to Springfield, Mass., crashed into a telegraph pole after skidding on a wet pavement. The driver, Varta Aslanian, 38, of Ridgefield, N. J., is under arrest.

HUNT FUGITIVE CONVICT IN MEDFORD BOY ATTACK

Police squads combed Medford today in search of William F. App, escaped State Prison convict, following an attack upon a seven-year-old boy near the Mystic Valley Parkway, Medford.

The child, bruised and attacked, picked a photograph of App from several shown him, as that of his assailant.

Leslie Jones, living in Arlington st., Medford, was the victim. Under the guise of hiring the child to carry a battery for him, the man led him into the shrubbery-bounded grounds of a house on the Parkway near the junction of Winthrop st. and there attacked him.

The boy's father reported the at- Please Turn to Page 6, Column 6.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 10 (AP)—With menacing flood waters in the Lake Okeechobee region beginning to subside, a new threat left by the storm in Florida arose today at Ingelis, a small community some 70 miles north of Tampa, near the west coast, where the Florida Power Corporation's large dam was reported Please Turn to Page 6, Column 4.

Where Gene and Heiress Are Hiding From the World At Her Island Summer Home

These two pictures show the location of "Polly" Lauder's summer home in Maine and a view of the house itself. It is here that the former champion is pressing his courtship while a force of armed guards insure privacy from curious.

Gene can keep himself in trim by packing a few wicked wallops at the golf ball, like this.

insuring the deepest secrecy for the young couple.

Tunney is more in seclusion today than ever before on the island estate of his fiancee.

Scores of summer visitors at the various islands and towns in the vicinity circled this island for a glimpse of the retired heavyweight champion and his bride-to-be, but were disappointed.

At one time Tunney could be seen from the mainland, taking some exercise in cutting branches. Polly was beside him, watching him at the work.

As soon as conversation from this point started for the island, however, Gene and the girl disappeared from sight.

Miss Lauder wore a yellow print dress, trimmed with orange. Gene had on a blue shirt, under a brown sweater and wore gray knickers.

A number of friends of "Polly," passing in a motor launch, waved at the pair. Gene did not desist from cutting brush but Miss Lauder returned the greeting.

There were a number of dances in the town and the dance halls were filled to overflowing with local people. They had come hoping that Gene and his sweetheart would appear at one of them. There were no signs of them, however.

Frank Reilly of American Scoops All on Tunney

To young Frank Reilly, a stripling reporter, the newspapermen of America doffed their crowns of straw today.

Young Reilly accomplished what the old and time-tutored scribes of New York and the Hub had failed in two days to do—corner and interview Gene Tunney retired heavyweight champion of the fistic world, in connection with his engagement to a $50,000,000 heiress.

Reilly's was the first interview drawn from the ex-Marine, since his vanishing from New York after the Heeney squabble and his mental sudden bobbing up at John's Island, Me., summer home of "Polly" Lauder, beautiful and wealthy girl of Greenwich, Ct.

For two days none of the scribes was able to find the champion, who had relinquished his crown in favor of matrimony.

Then young Reilly, a thinking man with only two years experience back of a newspaper pad and pencil, reached South Bristol, after being called off city assignments in Boston.

Saw Boats Crash

SAW COLLISION

waterline and the steamer with an opening in her stem.

All of the crew of the Parker were taken off by the Federal quarantine boat Waterhouse, which assisted her ashore, while those on the Nantasket, which carried no passengers, remained at their posts.

54 IN THE CREWS

The collision assumed dangerous proportions for a time, with the schooner sinking rapidly, her crew manning the pumps, while the Waterhouse rushed to the rescue.

The quarantine boat tied up alongside the Parker, and literally lifted her into shallow water. The schooner, commanded by Capt. George Goodwin, with a crew of 21 men, carried 20,000 pounds of haddock and cod, valued at $7000.

The Nantasket was in command of Capt. James McNamara, a veteran in the steamboat service, and had a crew of 28.

ONE HURT IN CRASH

Henry Hubbard of 36 Cannell ave., West Somerville, a member of the crew of the fishing schooner, was the only person injured by the collision, as far as could be learned. Hubbard was the last man on deck of the 14 members of the crew who were eating breakfast at the time. They dashed for the gangway on hearing the "full speed" signal, and Hubbard was crushed against the side of the gangway when the collision occurred. His right arm was torn, being treated later at the Quarantine station.

Gertrude Sweeney, daughter of Major A. R. Sweeney, in command of the Quarantine station, who lives at the island all the time, was awakened by the whistles of the two boats, as was her brother Chalmers. They ran to the water's edge, where they saw the two craft in trouble, and then notified their father, who in turn phoned to Boston, Nantasket and Pemberton, informing steamboat officials of what had occurred.

According to Thomas J. Griffin, assistant manager of the steamboat company, the Nantasket left Boston at 6:15, without passengers, bound for Pemberton to make the first regular run up to this city.

At 7 o'clock, as the steamer was proceeding on her course, having just passed the buoy off Gallup's Island, the schooner loomed out of the fog and the two vessels crashed.

There was a shrieking of whistles as the deck officers of the two vessels discovered each other, and then the steamer's siren blared through the fog, summoning aid.

With no wind bowing the signal was audible for miles, but already the Waterhouse was on the way to the rescue. Thomas L. Tully of Hancock st., Boston, chief clerk at the quarantine station on Gallup's Island, was on the Waterhouse, which was but a short distance away. He heard the first whistle and was a witness of the crash.

SCHOONER CREW RESCUED

The schooner was struck amidships, according to Tully, and began to fill at once, the water rushing in through a yawning cavity under the waterline. The Nantasket was also damaged about the prow, but seemed in no immediate danger.

Meantime, the Waterhouse was approaching at full speed, arriving in a very short time alongside the sinking schooner.

The two vessels were bound together with cables. The quarantine boat then started for shore, and in a few minutes beached the schooner on Craggy Point at the tip of the island. The crew were then removed and taken to the quarantine station, awaiting transportation to Boston.

The Nantasket was in far better condition than the Parker, but was taking water through the hole in the bow, and it was decided to beach her also. This was done without difficulty, and later when the tugs Juno and Saturn of the Boston Towboat Co. arrived, she was high and dry on the rocks, about 100 feet from shore.

The tugs had been sent by officials of the steamboat company to tow the Nantasket to the Atlantic Works, East Boston, for drydocking, but they were forced to wait for high tide, which will be at 5:52 p.m.

OTHER TUGS SENT

The tugs Pow Wow and Cordelia were also dispatched to aid the schooner, but were unable to be of any assistance.

When the Betty Alden of the steamboat company, which left Boston on her regular trip at 3:15 passed the scene, the tugs and Coast Guard boat No. 17 were standing by, while the crew of the beached steamer leaned on the rail, apparently prepared to remain all day.

In addition to Capt. McNamara, the personnel of the Nantasket, as given by the company, follows:

John W. Marvian, pilot; Charles H. Olsen, mate; Alexander Anderson, engineer; Daniel V. Ladrigan, assistant engineer; Carl Crossman purser; Obrey Bank, second mate; Clark Thomas, quartermaster; Joseph Russell, oiler; Vincent Ladrigan, fireman; Benjamin Downe, fireman; Hilford Simmons, fireman; C. E. Walsh, fireman; John Greenwood, fireman; Cecil Sinard, fireman; James Goodwin, deckhand; John Atwood, deckhand; Percy Goodwin, deckhand; Bernard Blades, deckhand; Lovett Blades, deckhand; Howard Larkin, deckhand; Clyde Morton, deckhand; Henry Robitaille, deckhand; Lemuel Greenwood, deckhand; Delma Cormier, cook; Minnie Robbins, stewardess; Emma Cormier, assistant stewardess, and Milda Bodreau, assistant cook.

The Parker is an auxiliary sloop powered with 24-sel engines, is 96 feet overall, 110 gross tons, built in Essex in 1925 and owned by Arnold & Windsor Co. of the Fish Pier. It was said to be only the third trip of Capt. Goodwin on the Parker, he having succeeded Capt. Enos Nickerson.

The sloop was beached in several feet of water and as her hold was flooded it was feared that the cargo would be a total loss.

A Boston Evening American reporter, who reached Gallup's Island shortly after the fisherman was beached, found the crew sitting on the shore, watching the efforts of tugs to pull the Nantasket into deep water.

ANOTHER BOAT ASHORE

Close on the heels of the report of the sinking of the scow by the Japanese Prince, came word that the new fishing schooner Angie and Venice, built this year at a cost of $25,000, in command of Capt. Frank Marino with a crew of 20 and 40,000 pounds of mackerel aboard, grounded on Great Brewster on her way into port. The schooner was stranded on the rocks at low tide and it is feared she may be a total loss.

The Eastern Steamship Lines' steamer New York, from New York with several hundred passengers, was forced by the fog to anchor off Boston lightship, reaching her berth here shortly after noon.

Hundreds of prospective passengers were disappointed when the day's sailings to Plymouth were cancelled. Announcement posted at the dock declared the fog was too heavy all the way to take chances.

The Fairfax, of the Merchants' & Miners' Line, with more than 100 passengers, from Norfolk and Baltimore, was also held at anchor off Boston lightship.

Ferries barely moved across the harbor and practically all other shipping held to berths or anchorages.

Tom Tunney Shuts Up Like Clam on Gene's Romance

New York, Aug. 10 (INS)—Gene Tunney, who, since his retirement from the ring and announcement of his engagement to Miss Josephine Lauder, heiress to millions, has sought to keep out of the public eye and demands to be let alone, need not fear any of his marriage plans or gossip concerning him and his fiancee, will be betrayed by his brother, Detective Tom Tunney.

Detective Tom, attached to West Sixty-eighth st. station, said: "Nothing out of me." He even refused to say when he had seen his brother last.

tive and tore the shirt from one of the pair which escaped. The arrested man, Adam Belsky of Gore st., Cambridge, was accused of keeping and exposing and of making a sale.

Arraigned later in East Cambridge district court he was held in $1,000 on a continuance granted by Judge Edward A. Counihan, Jr.

The arrest of Belsky, who is only 19, was evidence, police declared, of their contention that boys, and in some cases children, are peddling liquor which they found "dumped" in the guarded districts and with which they eluded the State troopers.

The blockade, with its attendant searches, almost tantamount to martial law, continued in force, and several more seizures of illicit wet stuff and manufacturing paraphernalia were expected.

Bootleggers of the "Gold Coast" district claimed today that a huge load of liquor, in pint bottles, was removed from the district past the blockade of State troopers. The "hootch," they claimed, was hidden in the bottom of a truck beneath a load of foodstuff. The driver was stopped by a State trooper and forced to show his license and registration, but was allowed to proceed, the bootleggers said.

In the belief "Gold Coast" operators will assume a "take a chance" attitude tomorrow and go after Saturday business, the Cambridge police will double its special guard for the day along the Somerville boundary.

LANGSHAW SAYS THEY HOLD CITY IN THEIR GRIP

New Bedford, Aug. 10 (INS) — Four mill officials — former United States Sen. William H. Butler, Andrew G. Pierce, James Stanton and Oliver Prescott — were blamed for the start and continuance of the 17 weeks' strike of 27,000 textile operatives. The charge was made by Walter H. Langshaw, president of Dartmouth Mills, in a statement issued today. Dartmouth Mills are the only cotton mills in operation in the city. President Langshaw having declined to cut wages 10 percent with the other mills.

Tabulation of directorates of 14 cotton mills, five banks and half a dozen charities and clubs show the same names on each directorate, said the Langshaw statement. It continued: "This is a picture of interlocking directorates composed of men selected from old New Bedford families. They dominate the city, not through the investment of their own money, but through control of the big savings banks, which have no stock issue but whose members constitute a self-perpetuating organization, handing down control from generation to generation. Using $100,000,000 of other people's money, these men perpetuate control of the community and, as the unions have alleged, block every progressive move."

'DRY' SPELL FOR DOCTORS MAY COME SEPT. 1

A prescriptionless, arid period faced physicians and their patients who may need liquor after Sept. 1.

Maj. Fenley Hamlin, assistant prohibition administrator for New England district, announced today that the new prescription blanks will not be ready by Aug. 16, as previously announced.

Physicians will be allowed to use the old blanks until Sept. 1, and druggists will be permitted to honor them until Sept. 15. If the new blanks are not ready by that time a dry period will ensue until they appear in this district.

The new prescriptions will allow prohibition headquarters a more accurate check upon physicians and patients to whom they were issued. Under the new system doctors will issue an original and a carbon copy to persons for whom they are prescribing and both these must be presented at the drug store.

The druggist will be required to forward the copies monthly to the local prohibition headquarters.

There are 11,000 physicians in New England using liquor prescriptions, Maj. Hamlin said. Each is entitled to 400 a year and the maximum amount which may be prescribed on each is one pint.

The permits of a number of New England physicians have been revoked, he said. Promiscuous prescribing and connivance with druggists who desire to sell illegal whiskey were the principal reasons. How many have been affected he could not say.

BARES PLAN TO PART HOLYOKE SIAMESE TWINS

Newark, N. J., Aug. 10 (INS)—America's only living Siamese twins, Mary and Mary Gibbs, aged 17, Holyoke, Mass., are to undergo an operation soon in West Park Hospital, New York, so that they may be freed of the physical bond that joins them at the base of the spine.

This was admitted today by Dr. Francis P. Weston, New York surgeon.

Dr. Weston said the twins were in the hospital after he had had them under observation for more than a year and that a published report that he would perform an operation to separate them was true.

Further than to say that he would not attempt such a dangerous operation unless he was reasonably sure of success, he refused to discuss the case.

3 THIEVES GET $1000 OFF MAN IN ELEVATOR

Thieves took $950.26 from an insurance clerk in the elevator of the building at 31 Milk st. today and made a clean getaway.

The money was taken from John H. McDevitt of Holworthy st., Roxbury, who had been sent to the Old Colony Trust Company by his employer, the Mutual Life Insurance Company, to cash a check for that amount.

McDevitt assured himself that the money was safe as he entered the building on his way back to the office, but when he reached the office, it was gone.

He then recalled seeing three men, who entered the elevator with him, leave it at the second floor and hurry down stairs.

GUSTIN STARTS FIGHT AGAINST EXTRADITION

A long drawn-out legal battle to prevent the return of Frank Wallace, alias Gustin to Michigan where he is wanted in Detroit in connection with a holdup and murder of a policeman, began at the State House today before R. Aimee Cutter, assistant attorney general.

Michigan seeks Wallace's extradition on the grounds of an identification made in Boston July 26 by Isabella Richardson and Fred Thornton, employes of the Detroit Daily News, scene of the robbery and shooting.

Characterizing these identifications as "false," Atty. John W. Corcoran, for Wallace, called John J. Horgan, deputy sheriff, to the stand. Horgan testified that between July 25 and 31 Wallace was in jail for a local offense.

Recognition of Wallace as the man sought was said to have been made in the courthouse corridors on July 26.

Sergt. Chester McCarthy, a member of Capt. Livingstone's "flying squadron," was questioned by Attorney Daniel Casey for Wallace, but refused to admit that Walace had been in on automobile which he chased about the date of the Detroit shooting.

Q.—Did some one in your car say Wallace was in the car you were chasing? A.—I believe someone did mention Wallace's name.

Q.—Do you recall what morning that was? A.—It was some time near June 1. I am sure it was not the sixth and I am certain it was not the fifth or seventh.

NEWBURYPORT FIRE DAMAGE $50,000

Newburyport, Aug. 10—A fire, which for a time threatened the entire business section of Newburyport, destroyed the Joy block, 28-48 Inn st., today. The loss will be more than $50,000. Help had to be summoned from Amesbury before the flames were controlled.

An east wind blowing briskly over the town saved the Congregational Church from destruction.

Failure of the fire alarm system to function properly caused a 15-minute delay in getting the Newburyport firemen to the scene of the blaze, and when the apparatus finally arrived the entire block was ablaze. The Amesbury department was immdiately called and the two departments then turned their attention to saving adjoining property.

The fire started in the plant of the Newburyport Steam Laundry and spread to the offices of the Newburyport Water Company, the harness shop of Moses H. Chase, the clothing store of Ralph S. Littlefield and the store of J. R. Thibault.

WOMAN SLAYER FREED ON NEW SUICIDE RULING

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP)—When a man kills himself in suicide. When one tells a woman the revolver empty and asks her to shoot, she is killed [illegible] likewise to suicide.

DUPONT AGREES TO TEMPORARY RETIREMENT

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 10 (AP)—Pierre S. du Pont, whose resignation as chairman of the board and member of the finance and executive committee of General Motors was considered at the board meeting yesterday, today issued a statement accepting the decision of the board.

This was that his withdrawal from the official positions be made temporary as a leave of absence.

Mr. du Pont's statement follows:

"It is true that some days ago I presented my resignation of the positions of the chairman of the board and member of the finance and executive committees of General Motors Corporation. The board has requested that my withdrawal be temporary in the form of leave of absence.

"Recently I have taken much interest in the broad subject of the propriety and validity of the kind of legislation involved in the 18th amendment to the Constitution of the United States and in the enforcement law now voted on it.

"This question is strictly political and, though not yet a matter of politics, may become a party issue of as great importance and contention as has ever arisen.

"The alignment may not be that of the existing parties, but until a settlement is reached strongly opposed opinion will continue to be held.

"In order to avoid embarrassments to the General Motors Corporation and its officers and in order to adhere strictly to the rule that the corporation shall not become involved in political affairs, it has seemed proper to offer to the board an opportunity of discussing my relations to the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. The decision reached is agreeable to me and is now in force."

SEE FIRST POLL ON MONDAY

American ship of state for the next four years.

The poll being taken is absolutely secret. The method is divided between postcards and personal solicitation. If you receive a postcard, you are asked to mark a cross opposite the name of either Hoover or Smith. You are also asked to place a mark against the candidate you voted for in 1924.

NO NAME NECESSARY

No name is necessary on the ballot. Nobody knows for whom you intend to vote.

The same with the personal canvass. You are not asked to give your name. The Boston Evening American is not interested in any individual's choice for President. The idea is to collect a representative percentage of votes which will indicate just how each district or county leans.

While the canvass is going on in Boston, Mass., and the other New England States, Hearst newspapers throughout the country are also busy. Every state about which there is the slightest doubt will be canvassed.

ROLL DOUBTFUL STATES

Tennessee, Kentucky, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Florida, Massachusetts and Missouri, will be polled so thoroughly, that readers of the Hearst newspapers should know just what the voters in those states will do on election day. It, as is asserted, there will be a new alignment of the states in November, the poll will show it.

All the names of those canvassed are taken from the lists of voters, prepared by the authorized boards of election, so that there will be no duplication and no person will vote more than once in the poll.

All other weaknesses characteristic of ordinary straw votes have been carefully studied and methods devised to reduce them to a negligible minimum.

PAPERS CANVASSING

The plan, then, which is as error-proof as it seems humanly possible to make it in an undertaking of this kind and of such scope, is being carried out under the direction of the following Hearst newspapers:

Boston Evening American.
Boston Sunday Advertiser.
Chicago Herald and Examiner.
Seattle Post Intelligencer.
San Francisco Examiner.
Oakland Post Inquirer.
Los Angeles Examiner.
San Antonio Light.
Omaha Bee-News.
Milwaukee-Wisconsin News.
Detroit Times.
Atlanta Georgian.
Washington (D. C.) Herald.
Baltimore News.
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.
New York American.
Rochester (N. Y.) Journal.
Syracuse N. Y.) American.

Previous straw votes have been confined largely to the great cities and thickly populated rural districts adjoining urban centers. One of the big problems confronting the politicians today is: "How will the farmer vote?" The test ballots of the Hearst newspapers will endeavor to furnish an answer to this before the votes are counted next November.

LOTTERY AGENTS SAID TO BE AGAIN ACTIVE

An investigation is being made by Richard B. McSweeney, probation officer for the United States district court here, of reports made to United States Attorney Frederick H. Tarr by federal officials in New York State that certain residents of Albany, who were given suspended sentences last November following pleas of guilty in the so-called "Albany pool" cases in this city, have violated their probation by engaging in the interstate distribution of lottery tickets again.

RICHARD ARLEN IN 'UPSTART GENTLEMAN'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Los Angeles, Aug. 10—Marriage hasn't interfered with the prolific writing of John Monk Saunders, who continues to provide scenarios for Jesse L. Lasky. Mr. Saunders and his pretty little bride, Fay Wray, have been much entertained since they returned to Hollywood. The latest opus to emanate from his pen is "The Upstart Gentleman" and it deals with a Rhodes scholar at Oxford.

What could be more fitting than for Mr. Saunders to write of an Oxford student? He is an Oxford graduate.

Richard Arlen, who did much to make "Wings," the first Saunders movie, such a success, has been cast as the "Upstart Gentleman." Nancy Carroll, who seems destined to be a fixture at Famous Players-Lasky, will play opposite Mr. Arlen.

Rod La Rocque is playing in great luck so far as his leading women are concerned. He will have the demure blonde, Camilla Horn, in "The Shop" and Dorothy Mackall in "The Changeling," which is my way of telling you that First National has or will sign Rod to play opposite Dorothy in this special number to be directed by George Fitzmaurice.

"The Changeling" will take the company to Honolulu, where swimming is grand and tropical moons are intriguing. That is, unless the company has a spell of economy and stages the Honolulu scenes in the F. N. studios.

The home of Frances Marion, high on the hill, was the scene of a farewell party given by Frances to her most intimate friends. She and Hedda Hopper and Frances' niece, Carolyn Bishop, are sailing August 17 for Europe. To use Frances' own expression, they are going to "dash over, stay a short time and dash right back." It's a vacation for [illegible] Marion, who is one of the [illegible] working women in the indus[illegible]

It has taken First National a long time to decide what to do with Maria Corda. Acting on a hunch that she would do well following the ballyhoo of "Helen of Troy," F. N. signed her to make a picture or two when she returns from Europe [illegible] months ago. I believe [illegible] stated she was scheduled to play opposite Milton Sills. Then came long weeks and no further word.

But hold all, everything is settled, Maria is to be the charmer in "Comedy of Life," Milton Sills' next. Maria, blonde, statuesque and with a temper of temperament all her own, can act and no one denies she is decorative. Her husband, Alexander Korda, will direct her, which insures her a good break any way you look at it.

You are apt to see most anybody at Tiffany-Stahl these days, hot weather notwithstanding, production seems to be at high tide. Lawrence Gray plays opposite Claire Windsor in "The Family Row."

If you read this column every single day you may remember I discussed at some length the virtues and vices of triangle plays. Well, this is one of these three-cornered dramas, with Lawrence Gray playing the husband and Roy D'Arcy the lover. Can't you just see Mr. D'Arcy with the forefinger, the monocle and the cute mustache? James Flood will direct "The Family Row" and Jed Prouty will play one of the important roles.

Mr. D'Arcy and Lita Grey Chaplin continue to be seen much in each other's company. I don't know when wedding bells may be expected. Perhaps they will be good and let us know.

Sally O'Neil is going abroad. That is all there is to it. Sally has made up her mind, and, come what may she has planned that little trip for herself. But before she sails she has two pictures to make for Tiffany Stahl. One deals with the stage and the other with the circus. Sally by that time should be well used to the limelight. The first is "Applause," with Sally playing an actress, and the second is "The Big Top," with Sally as a bare-back rider. These two jobs will keep her busy until December when she will take a look at London, Paris and other places across the pond.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Kathryn Carver Menjou, in midnight blue dress, waiting on Corrine Griffiths' set. A riotous New Year's Eve party in progress on the same set. Molly O'Day autographing cards in front of the Roosevelt Hotel. Sally O'Neil in yellow sport clothes, lunching at the same popular hostelry. Alice Lake doing the Varsity Drag at Roscoe Arbuckle's plantation. Tom Mix playing the tuba and Fatty Arbuckle the drums with the orchestra at the same place. Edmund Lowe, Lilyan Tashman and other film celebrities at Grauman's Chinese Theater, taking another look at "White Shadows in the South Seas.

Jumbo Jubilee Is Very Much Like a Cyclone

Lewiston, Idaho, Aug. 10 (AP) The next circus that visits Lewiston must prove its elephants are domesticated.

Five pachyderms from a circus conducted a free but fearful parade on Main st. that none but the halt stayed to see. Damage from the jumbo jubilee included five store fronts, several demolished automobiles, damaged porches, many broken windows, and at least one residence resting askew upon its foundation.

The house was moved over 10 inches when three of the beasts lumbered in squad formation between two homes.

Mayor E. G. Braddock brought out his bear gun and killed Mary. Babe, Tilly, Frieda and Moe were quieted and taken back to the circus grounds.

BETROTHED COUPLE ARE DROWNED IN RIVER

Springfield, Aug. 10—Identifications made today disclosed that the man and girl drowned in the Connecticut river last night were a betrothed couple, Miss Helen Perkins, 21, stenographer, of Brookline ave., and Umberto E. Saravo, 27, of York st., optician and prominent musician. They were drowned when a row boat capsized as they were transferring from it to Saravo's launch, anchored in the river. Saravo, although an expert swimmer, failed to save either his fiancee or himself. The girl's parents identified her, while Saravo was identified by friends.

AVIATOR DYING IN VERMONT CRASH

Rutland, Vt., Aug. 10—Sidney Lowell, 22-year-old aviator of Gardner, Mass., is dying in Rutland Hospital of injuries suffered when the "rubberneck" plane he was piloting crashed in a field near Rutland.

Two passengers in the plane, Edward Earl and Silas Hubbard, both of Rutland, were tossed out of the plane and escaped without injury.

The plane, which was owned by Frederick D. Bristow of Chittenden, was flown here from Fairview, N. H., for the purpose of picking up passengers.

It had taken up several parties before it suddenly developed motor trouble and crashed, immediately bursting into flames.

In its earthward flight the plane hit a tree which checked its speed somewhat.

As it struck the ground Earl and Hubbard rolled into the shallow water of a creek beside which the plane fell, and then rushed to rescue Lowell from the blazing wreck, just in time to prevent him from being burned to death. It is reported that the fall was caused by the plane striking an air pocket.

Tide Wave Wipes Out 3 Villages

Batavia, Java, Aug. 10 (AP)—Three more villages on the coast of Flores Island have been devastated by the eruption of Rokatinda volcano, which yesterday was reported to have caused the deaths of upwards of 1000 persons on Paloweh Island.

The villages were swept by a tidal wave after a series of submarine earthquakes. Ten persons were killed and a number injured. Five native vessels were driven ashore, but the crews were saved. The volcano was still belching smoke today.

The V4, designed for service in the United States navy, will return here in September for further tests. It is thought she will be ready for service in December.

HOOVER READY TO BE NOTIFIED, IS 54 TODAY

Stanford University, Cal., Aug. 10 (UP)—On the eve of his notification as the Republican nominee for President, Herbert Hoover today quietly observed his 54th birthday anniversary at his home here, surrounded by his family and a small group of friends.

The stage is set for the notification ceremonies in Stanford stadium. Arrangements have been made to handle a crowd of 150,000. The exercises will begin at 2 o'clock with a band concert and at 3:30 Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire will tell Hoover formally how the Kansas City convention named him the Republican nominee.

Hoover will accept the nomination in a 7100-word speech, in which he will lay down the Republican issues of the coming campaign. He will begin speaking shortly before 4 o'clock and his speech will last 40 minutes.

It will be broadcast by radio, beginning at 8 p. m., Boston time.

HUGE DAM NEAR COLLAPSE IN FLORIDA

endangered by rapidly rising waters of the Withlacoochee river.

The dam, which ordinarily forms a large lake, was backing more than a thousand acres of water from the torrential rains which accompanied the tropical hurricane.

The dam is located about 18 miles from the mouth of the river and the Gulf, and it was said that if it gave way, a small part of Inglis would be inundated by the waters. Yankeetown, an even smaller community at the mouth of the river, would be directly in the path of the water, a resident of Inglis said.

With clear skies last night and by bright sunshine today which followed almost 36 hours of continuous heavy rain, reports were received from Okeechobee that flood waters which had cut off the town completely by rail and highway and submerged a 25-mile stretch of rich farming lands eastward to Fort Pierce, on the coast, began receding this morning at 6 o'clock.

Meanwhile the state eyed the progress of another tropical disturbance central last night over an area just south of the waters between Haiti and Cuba, 500 to 600 miles southeast of Florida and heading west-northwest. While its course was problematical, the general direction of the hurricane, which was said by the Washington weather bureau to be gaining in intensity, appeared to point in the general direction of Cuba, rather than the Bahamas.

Warn U. S. Employes of Political Work While On Duty

Washington, Aug. 10 (AP)—Stringent orders have been issued to Federal Government employes by the civil service commission to make their political activities conform to regulations. They are not permitted to wear campaign buttons while on duty; nor can they serve as members of committees or political clubs. They are forbidden to make political speeches or even discuss politics while on duty or in public places.

The restrictions, however, the commission added, leave the employes "free to vote, think and speak privately as they choose" and contribute to campaign funds if not in public buildings.

HUB GIRL HURT IN PLANE CRASH THAT KILLS 3

Gravenhurst, Ont., Aug. 10—Miss Lucy Hill of Boston, spending a vacation at a summer camp here, is nursing a broken arm today, as she reads sheafs of messages from friends in Massachusetts congratulating her on her escape in a plane crash in which the pilot and two passengers lost their lives.

The plane, piloted by Capt. Charles Haines of Detroit, crashed on the shore of Lake Muskoka. The pilot was killed, as was Robert Irving, 18, of Pittsburgh. Walter Phillips, 19, also of Pittsburgh, died a few hours later in Calydor sanitarium.

In addition to Miss Hill the injured were Miss Molly Spaulding, Buffalo, N. Y., and Miss Betty Mackay of Pittsburgh. The fourth person injured is James Reed of Pittsburgh. Two of the women and Reed were said to have escaped with minor injuries.

The big aircraft, which is operated for sight-seeing around the lakes by the International Airways Ltd., had just taken off from the surface of Lake Muskoka, when it fell, landing on huge boulders and crumbling like matchwoods.

Rescuers were quickly on hand and the victims removed in motor boats to the sanitarium.

tack to the Medford police immediately and at Medford police headquarters Leslie identified a picture of the escaped convict as the man who attacked him.

A general alarm was immediately sounded by the police of Greater Boston and squads of Medford patrolmen were rushed to the scene.

App escaped from prison last Monday, eluding a guard and stealing a suit of civilian clothes. He was serving a sentence of 10 to 12 years for attack upon a little girl and soon would have been eligible for parole.

Don't fool yourself:

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Halitosis ruins romance - end it

How can you expect attention from others—especially of the opposite sex—when you have halitosis (unpleasant breath)?

Many a vacation and pleasure trip that otherwise would have been jolly and romantic has been a failure because of it.

Don't fool yourself that you never have halitosis. Because you simply cannot know when you are a victim. Halitosis does not announce itself. Unknowingly, you may offend.

Why take the chance at all? Simply use Listerine every day. Then, if you have halitosis, Listerine ends it. If you haven't—your mouth has had the benefit that Listerine always gives.

Listerine ends halitosis because it is a powerful deodorant. If you need proof of this, rub a bit of onion on your hand and then apply a bit of Listerine clear. Immediately, the odor is gone. Even the strong odor of fish yields to this treatment. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

SHARTON POOR DEBTOR CASE PUT OFF 2 WEEKS

Owing to complications that have arisen, Judge Qua in Superior court today continued for two weeks the bill in equity filed by Atty. William R. Scharton to enjoin William B. Holland from further proceeding in the poor debtor court on a judgment for $2300 obtained by Holland against Scharton. Scharton admits having borrowed the money, but asserts Holland knows more than enough to pay the debt is in the custody of Atty. Lothrop Withington, who will eventually pay it to the proper party.

Goodwin Gives Law on Horn Sounding

By FRANK A. GOODWIN
Highway Safety Editor, Boston Evening American and Former Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

I suppose the average operator of motor vehicles is not aware of the fact that he cannot blow his own horn as much as he wants to. A days ago it was recorded in a Boston paper that a Boston motorist got a big surprise one day on Boylston st., as he sat comfortably behind his wheel repeatedly tooting his horn. The statement said further: "After he had kept it up for some minutes a police sergeant stepped up to car and placed him under arrest. In court the next day the judge fined him $10."

F. A. Goodwin

The law covering this offense covers also other offensive actions by motorists. It is, in part, as follows: "No person operating a motor vehicle shall, in a thickly settled or business district open the muffler cutout or sound a bell, horn or other device for signalling so as to make a harsh, objectionable or unreasonable noise, or at any time permit such motor vehicle to make any unnecessary noise by opening the muffler cutout, or otherwise permit any unreasonable amount of smoke to escape from such vehicle."

Here is a law that is more honored in the breach than the observance, and a little more enforcement of it would be for the best interest of all. A few years ago whistles operated from the exhaust were making our streets a bedlam and the registrar immediately began to take plates from vehicles so equipped. The manufacturers who had more interest in the pleasing jingle of dollars than the nerves of our citizens fought the regulation made by the registrar through the Supreme Court and won out, but they also lost because there is more than one way to kill a cat.

The court ruled that the registrar had no right to make a regulation with a penalty, but there was another provision in the motor vehicle law, permitting the registrar to revoke plates after a hearing.

Some years ago the roar of mufflers with cutouts open was common on our streets especially on motorcycles but we do not hear much of them now. Every now and then we get behind a car with a bad mixture emitting a black, smelly volume of smoke but nothing like in the old days. This has been remedied by improvements made in the manufacture of cars.

One great curse of city life is its constant roar of innumerable noises and the motor vehicle plays a large part in it. The change in the law making it no longer necessary to sound horns at corners has gone a long way to reduce the din and as suggested in a former article it is to be hoped that some future legislature will obviate the necessity for sounding a horn upon approaching a pedestrian. Every motorist should have in mind at all times that some nervous soul or some person critically ill may suffer from the harsh and unnecessary noise he makes.

PARALYSIS HITS 3 MORE TODAY; 1 IN BELMONT

Two new cases of infantile paralysis were reported in Waltham today, bringing the total for Waltham and Watertown to 57, with the number of dead remaining at eight.

A case was also reported from Belmont, the first in that town.

The new Waltham cases are those of Lionel Cormier, six, of Federal st., and Calvin Meisner, seven, of Prospect st.

Richard Stucke, five, of Stanley rd., Waverley, is the Belmont victim.

Mothers in Waltham were much cheered today when it was anounced that seven out of eight cases under treatment at the Waltham hospital will leave the institution within a week's time, completely cured of the dread malady and with no aftereffects. The eighth case died.

Drs. Barton and Stiffle are credited with the cures.

How many hens to lay 53,000 eggs?

Only enough to supply Sunshine Bakers with sufficient eggs for a single day's batch of biscuits . . . Interesting, isn't it?

No wonder Sunshine Biscuits are so light, so flaky, so surprisingly delicious. It also helps explain why they are so high in food value... why they are so good for children . . . and grown-ups too!

Sunshine means:— fine plump Soda Crackers, luscious Fig Bars, oven-crisp Graham Crackers and many other fine biscuits.

Goodyear "ALL-WEATHER" Tread

See for yourself

COME, SEE THE MILES STRETCH

Any one of us will gladly demonstrate the SUPERTWIST principle which stretches the miles and the value of your tire dollar. This machine makes it clear. Come see it—and get its money-saving message.

SUPERTWIST

stretches your dollars by adding to mileage of

GOODYEAR TIRES

Any of us will gladly demonstrate for you this remarkable principle, exclusively Goodyear, by which SUPERTWIST construction adds so tremendously to the life, mileage, and comfort of Goodyear Tires.

A simple machine which we have shows it all at a glance. It demonstrates before your eyes how SUPERTWIST cords stretch farther than ordinary cords. And, not only that, how they assume their natural size, shape and position immediately, thus obviating tire distortion and weakness.

The result—all the miles you pay for, and more. Added comfort. Added peace-of-mind. Tires in constant service. Out of the repair shop. Out of the expense column.

A tire is no better than the construction of its inner body "muscles." Once they become "tired" under the terrific strain of rapid and continuous stretching and flexing, they are through, with 10% to 15% paid for mileage still undelivered.

But Goodyear Tires, because of their SUPERTWIST construction, cannot become prematurely "tired." These tough, vibrant, sinewy cords withstand the hardest kind of going, and come right back for more. They are built to outlast the tread. They are the "inside" reason for Goodyear supremacy and economy.

Naturally we are all proud to sell Goodyear Tires. Yet Goodyear prices are no higher than those of many standard makes not built with SUPERTWIST. See the low prices listed on this page. And, be sure to come in for the convincing SUPERTWIST demonstration.

CORN' BEEF AND JIGGS LAUDED BY TUNNEY

Gene Tunney has been asked to submit his favorite recipe for corn' beef and cabbage, a dish that has frequently been on the training table. He said that he had no pet formula, but added that corned beef and cabbage cooked from any recipe, always tasted good to him. He said he would be glad to write a tribute not only to a favorite dish but to Jiggs, a comic character that has long amused him. Here is what he wrote:

By GENE TUNNEY

As a boy on the west side of New York, I became familiar with two things, that are still a habit with me. One was Jiggs, the large-hearted fellow, who exemplifies so much of that good, rich humor, that we like to think is God's gift to the Irish. The other was corn'beef and cabbage.

Jiggs is a hardy perennial among friends. It can truthfully be said that, while he has not changed a bit in the 15 years I have known him intimately, yet there are so many aspects of his many-sided character, that his company never palls.

Maggie Jiggs

He is a lovable, kindly, whole-souled Irishman, representative of the race at its best. No wonder he is so popular.

I am willing to go all the way with Jiggs on the corn'beef and cabbage thing. There is nobody, who will wait more eagerly than I for the decision of the committee, finally determining once and for all, what is the best way of cooking a dish that has long been my favorite.

(Now that Gene Tunney has given his recipe for Jiggs' favorite dish, come on, readers, and send in your way of preparing corned beef and cabbage.

$7,814.50 GIVEN FOR MEMORIAL TOWER

Subscriptions to the proposed Memorial Control Tower at the Boston airport are expected to reach a total today of $9000. Yesterday's total subscriptions brought the fund up to $7814.50.

The committee announces that Mayor Edward W. Quinn of Cambridge and Mayor Edwin O. Childs

Mayor Quinn Mayor Childs

of Newton have organized teams in their respective cities to co-operate with Governor Fuller, Mayor Nichols, Crosscup-Pishon Post, Chamber of Commerce and the Massachusetts Aero Club in putting the memorial project over the top.

The tower will centralize activities at the airport, it will be a four-story building, resembling a lighthouse and will be the first of its kind in the United States. Architecturally, it will follow colonial lines.

The names of the 225 New England aviators who lost their lives will be memorialized on the first floor. The second floor will be a trophy room. General offices will be on the third floor and the fourth story will be entirely of glass. This will be the control room, from which traffic at the airport will be directed.

This lighthouse of the sky will be something of which New Englanders may well be proud. It will be second to none in the country.

To provide this permanent memorial to such aviators as our own illustrious aces: David Putnam, Norman Prince, Joseph Wehner, Rqoul Lufberry and scores of others, a greater number of people are urged to contribute.

New contributions are: Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Dane, $1000; Local Organization, $500; Sinclair Weeks, $50; Charles H. Innes, $25; Thomas H. Ratigan, $25; William Bacon, $25; Mrs. Gardiner H. The world's most popular ready-to-eat cereal

WHEN W. K. Kellogg discovered corn flakes, he set a standard for crispness and flavor that nobody has ever been able to equal.

Hundreds of imitators have appeared. But, year after year, Kellogg's have climbed still farther ahead in popularity.

Five out of every six people in New England prefer Kellogg's. All over the country, Kellogg's are the overwhelming choice. More than 11,000,000 people enjoy them daily.

There's only one answer. Kellogg's must be better! Must be crisper—more delicious! That's why so many people like to be sure of getting genuine Kellogg's whenever they buy corn flakes.

You, and all the millions who appreciate the difference between the genuine and an imitation, have made Kellogg's the world's most popular corn flakes.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green package.

PROPER GUIDANCE

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

WE talk so much and so vehemently about what should be done to punish young criminals, and our main argument is that they SHOULD be punished to teach a lesson to other growing boys as to what will happen to them if they pursue a similar course.

You who have given childhood any thought know that there is first in childhood a domestic age, when the child plays at home, either alone or with a chosen companion or two. Later, and beginning around the tenth year, comes the urge to get away from home, make friends, develop social connections, to be one of a "gang." It is the age when a boy develops a sense of loyalty, not only to himself and his chum, but to his team, his "side." It is the beginning of the gang age, the beginning of a period in his life when he feels an urge and a positive need to follow someone and make a hero of him. This urge starts as a perfectly natural and healthy one, to get together in games of contest, to play together, experience the same delights of a hike or the thrills of comparing a collection of various things. Whether the congregation of a group of boys results in healthful, enjoyable activities or in the tragic sorrow which accrue from the gang spirit depends upon the interest of the parents at this critical time.

There is no use trying to keep your boy from these gang experiences, and to do so would be to rob him of his chance to broaden in mind and character, his opportunity to learn sportsmanship, a "give and take" attitude toward life and his fellow men.

The big longing at this age is for someone to idealize, to worship as a hero, and it is your job as a parent to see that your boy sets up the right image to imitate and adore, in the form of a leader, either a boy or an adult.

A gentle directing of the boy's literature preparatory to this period will be of help. See that into his hands fall good biographies, stories of real men who have been decent and honorable while in the acts of discovery, pioneering, adventuring and founding a country. There are excellent books of this type for boys available today which are as interesting as the wildest adventure story.

Next, when the boy begins to gather many companions about him in teams or clubs, make the gang welcome at your home. There is where the father can play a big part, if he is truly interested in boys, in suggesting new diversions, in which he will probably be invited to participate if he is a "regular" fellow. A "feed" for your boy's team or gang once a month will be infinitely cheaper and of less trouble than trying to undo the work of this gang influence if you let it go unnoticed and uninvestigated somewhere else.

Boys' camps for the Summer vacation take care of this desire to congregate with other boys in a most healthful and satisfactory way. For every small group of boys there is provided an adult who has made a study of things boys like to do, and he is there to help the boys execute these ideas.

Keep your boy exceedingly busy between the years of ten and sixteen. Encourage him to bring his companions to your home. Encourage handiwork of all kinds and athletic sports to the limit of his physical capabilities. See that the leader of his gang merits imitation and worship.

Keep close to your ten-to-sixteen-year-olds—not so close that they feel your parental clutchings, but close in interest and spirit. Help to provide them with materials for work and out-of-door sport. Do your part during these years, and the arrests of boys who have utilized their energies in staging hold-ups will melt away like ice in a summer sun.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

THE modern woman dresses like a living picture in order to make herself a temptation to men, according to her latest critics.

Every feminine bathing suit is a flag to his senses, and every revealing skirt an invitation or a dare.

That all depends on how you look at it! Eve did not succeed in tempting Adam, until she put ON a few clothes; and no man is a "temptation" to any woman, until he gets his collar on and covers up his knees.

But the one thing a woman finds it hardest to do, is NOT to tempt a man. Ever since the first woman started it by tempting his appetite with an apple, man has made more fuss about that little bite that Eve took than about the cheerful eagerness with which Adam swallowed all the rest of it.

Why any woman should Try to tempt a man is a mystery! No matter what a woman does, it is a "temptation" to a man.

When she wore long trailing skirts and lots of petticoats, she tempted him through his imagination. And now that she goes bare-kneed and bare-backed, she tempts him with her sex appeal and through his eyes.

Even when women wore bustles and tight basques and buns, they were accused of "tempting" men with those atrocities; and now that they go about with shaved necks and an exposed clavicle, they are still accused of trying to be "tempting."

If a woman uses a lipstick and keeps herself scented and powdered, she tempts a man to kiss her. And if she scorns all the first aids to beauty and goes about in bungalow aprons, she drives him to seek some other woman's kisses.

If she is gay and frivolous and jazzy, she tempts him to keep late hours and waste his money at night clubs; and if she is quiet and unconvivial, she drives him "out of the house," to seek his amusements with his cronies or more amusing women.

If she is a good cook, she tempts him to over eat and to acquire embonpoint—and if she is a delicatessen wife, she drives him to cultivate dyspepsia in the restaurants.

Oh yes, a man has a thousand more temptations than a woman—because he knows just where to look for them, or where to telephone them, or how to invent them.

As a matter of fact, never was woman less "tempting" than she is in the frank, revealing and perfectly utilitarian clothes she wears to day. They are healthy, becoming, comfortable and sensible; but assures and snares, they are not in it with the discarded Turkish veil or an old-fashioned hoop-skirt.

But man MUST have his "temptations"—and woman will always be supposed to supply them. Even if she should elect to go around in a nose-ring and an Indian blanket, she would still be trying to "tempt" him!

U. S. WINS GOOD WILL ABROAD, SAYS FORBES

By B. C. FORBES

New York, Aug. 10—Since good-will is a valuable business asset, America's helpful cooperation with various foreign countries should bring fruit to American industry and labor.

What are the facts?

Take the latest development first. Our prompt opening of friendly relations with the Chinese Nationalist government, amounting to virtual recognition, is full of promise. The Chinese are impressed by acts of friendship.

B. C. Forbes

Robert Dollar, the veteran owner of the round-the-world steamship line and other lines, tells me that, because he is known there, he has been able to travel wherever he desired in China during the war. He has passed unmolested from one armed faction to another. Not only so, but during all the recent destruction of property, not one dollar's worth of damage has been done to any one of his various lumber and other plants in China.

In one instance every surrounding building was burned down, but his was left standing—in recognition of his long friendliness towards the Chinese people.

Our trade with China by and by will become of extreme importance. Indeed, Mr. Dollar declares confidently that China will one day become America's largest customer. The Chinese would rather deal with Americans than with any other foreigners.

The value of the work Ambassador Morrow is doing in Mexico can hardly be overestimated. He has made extraordinary progress in convincing the government and people of Mexico that this country entertains nothing but genuine goodwill towards them and that we have no sinister designs upon either their political freedom or their property.

Some day our commerce with Mexico is to develop into impressive proportions. Let stability be established throughout Mexico and let Mexico become thoroughly convinced of our neighborly, helpful attitude, and trade between the two countries will expand at a rate and on a scale destined to astonish those unfamiliar with Mexico's potentialities.

One European country after another has knocked at our door for financial assistance and has not knocked in vain. The dissatisfaction aroused in several countries by our stand on the repayment of war debts has been substantially modified in many directions by the responsive attitude of our bankers towards applications for credits and capital. Our Federal Reserve Bank authorities have cooperated in the most friendly and unselfish way with the principal governments and central banks in Europe. The work done in this direction by Governor Benjamin Strong of the New York Reserve Bank has been especially effective.

BOOT AND SHOE OUTPUT IS LARGER

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

Even before Massachusetts sent Henry Wilson, "the Natick cobbler," from New Hampshire, to Washington as Vice President, New England was a leader in boot and shoe production. The great interest in figures pertaining to the industry has grown with the expansion of the trade. Bay State leadership continues. One of the last acts of Herbert Hoover as Secretary of Commerce has been to request that "active support of every manufacturer of boots and shoes in the United States be given to the Bureau of the Census in order that those statistics may be of the greatest value to the industry."

Herbert Hoover

Mr. Hoover's request indicates the high value placed on boot and shoe output figures. It also indicates what has been previously pointed out in this column, that is, that some New England manufacturers could bestir themselves and help make the figures complete and, consequently, New England's statistical showing better.

Total production of boots and shoes, just announced, for June was 26,678,597 pairs. In June, 1927, 27,456,710 pairs were produced. But this is not the whole story, as production in the first five months of 1928 was 2,000,000 pairs ahead of the like period of 1927, or 129,693,044 pairs, against 137,576,680.

In May the production was 26,186,501 pairs and in April 27,496,710. The total for the January-June period shows 166,395,603 pairs for 1928 against 165,073,370 for the like months of 1927.

One of the Finest

Peter DiSessa, Real Policeman

For what is described as a "technical" violation of one of the departmental rules, Special Officer Peter DiSessa was compelled to get back into uniform on Tuesday night and return to his old job of pounding the pavement. After two years with Captain Livingston's "flying squadron," an assignment desired by all young patrolmen, he walked a beat again.

But, as the boys say, "it won't be long."

Before his first tour of duty was over, DiSessa with Patrolman Albert L. Drown of the Brighton Police Station discovered and arrested two young men charged with a part in no fewer than seven Greater Boston holdups.

The young men were in a stolen automobile. They tossed money, silverware and a revolver into the highway. Then they fought the policemen all over the street. One of the prisoners visited a hospital on his way to a cell.

The incident, so far as Peter DiSessa is concerned, may be used to illustrate the old saying that you "can't keep a good man down."

DiSessa's offense, at least in the eyes of the layman, was not a serious one. Without first notifying his superior he had called an out-of-town department by telephone to advise the police of the proximity of a gunman.

The erstwhile "special officer" appears to be an exceptionally good patrolman. We cannot have too many good patrolmen, but a policeman of his calibre may be utterly wasted on a beat. HIS territory should be as big as the town.

We Agree With Mr. Rickard

Let There Be No More Broadcasting of Prize Fights

The genial Tex Rickard is reported as having decided to allow no more broadcasts of his prize fights.

If the radio listeners want to hear his fights in the future, he says, they will have to pay him 25 cents a head. He seems particularly annoyed at Graham McNamee. Tex says that McNamee attempted to make a bull fight out of it, whereas it was nothing of the sort.

The truth is that McNamee's descriptions of the Tunney-Heeney exhibition were mild compared with those of the New York sports writers, printed in the newspapers next day. Here are a few of them:

"It was a snapshot of a butcher shop at a busy moment in the day's work."

"As an exposition of gameness and a demonstration of the scientific branch of the manly art of modified murder, it was a success."

"Tunney measured him as coolly as a chicken's neck and knocked him as cold as a creditor's hello."

"Thus did Tunney keep his promise, thus did he kill as he was bidden to kill."

"Tunney cut up his man as patiently and thoroughly as a good butcher cuts up a loin."

We agree with Mr. Rickard. There should be no more broadcasting of prize fights. It should be forbidden by law, but not for the sake of Mr. Rickard. It should be stopped for the sake of the American homes into which the radio pours the graphic description of paid brutality, in which men batter each other bloody and senseless to enrich Mr. Rickard and his fellow-promoters.

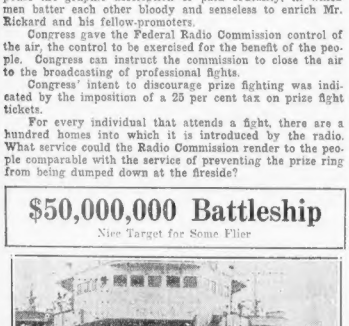

Congress gave the Federal Radio Commission control of the air, the control to be exercised for the benefit of the people. Congress can instruct the commission to close the air to the broadcasting of professional fights.

Congress' intent to discourage prize fighting was indicated by the imposition of a 25 per cent tax on prize fight tickets.

For every individual that attends a fight, there are a hundred homes into which it is introduced by the radio. What service could the Radio Commission render to the people comparable with the service of preventing the prize ring from being dumped down at the fireside?

SECRETARY WILBUR OF THE NAVY TALKS TO SEAMEN ON THE BATTLESHIP UTAH

This is one of Uncle Sam's giant fighting ships, with giant guns, thousands of horsepower, an army of men in the crew. $50,000,000 wouldn't pay for it. Including her colliers and other necessities, sixty millions would be nearer the price of this fighting ship.

And all that she really amounts to is this:

IMMIGRATION MADE MORE HUMAN

By DR. FRANK CRANE

In accordance with an order made public the other day by the Department of Labor about a thousand children and a hundred husbands of American citizens will now be allowed to enter this country with non-quota visas without further delay.

This proclamation carries into immediate effect the revisions in the immigration law made by the recent Congress concerning husbands and minor children.

This is as it should be. A country has a right to say who shall come into it. Very few except extremists favor unlimited immigration.

But every law should be tempered with humanity. There is no sense in excluding minor children. They certainly will not demoralize our labor supply, and as a rule do not make undesirable citizens. A man also in Europe that wants to join his wife here is not acting suspiciously. Neither does a woman seeking to join her husband cause undue alarm.

It is a good deal of a tragedy when people who are desirous of joining their families here reach Ellis Island and are turned back.

Mr. Hull's order is that an unmarried child under 21 years of age or the wife of a citizen of the United States shall not be regarded as a non-quota immigrant unless provided with an immigration visa designating the holder as such, and then only when the citizenship of the alleged father or husband and his relationship to the immigrant are established to the satisfaction of the examining immigration officer.

A similar rule in regard to husbands of citizens of the United States is made.

Thus the immigration officer is given opportunity to act humanely, and some scope is given to his discretion.

The immigration law has a sound basis in economics and social welfare. But the humanities ought also to have their place. And it is manifestly unjust and a tragic hardship when people simply want to rejoin their families over here.

The solidarity of the family should be the first concern to the state and it is doubtful whether the arbitrary separation of members of the family is conducive to morals.

Nowhere should the strict observance of the letter of the law be more tempered with mercy and interpreted with discretion than at the country's front door. Many stories have been published of the cruelties inflicted by the Immigration Department in refusing admission to the country to innocent members of a family. The immigration officers doubtless strive to do their duty, but the law should give them a little leeway, and this order of the Department of Labor is in line with sound public policy.

The order was prepared by Harry E. Hull, commissioner general of immigration, and approved by W. W. Husband, acting secretary of labor.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

LIFE DOESN'T OWE YOU ANYTHING.

Get over this idea that the world owes you a living. The world does not owe you a darned thing.

The world doesn't owe you health or wealth or happiness or even civil consideration.

You came into this world a beggar. With no more actual personal rights than a turnip. And you'll go out of it ditto unless you hustle.

YOU GET OUT OF THE WORLD EXACTLY WHAT YOU CAN TAKE OUT OF IT—AND NOTHING MORE.

"But some people are born rich and influential," you say.

You're wrong. Some people are born with riches and influence adjacent to them. But such assets won't do them any good unless they make them do them good. They will remain merely scenery. A man may possess a bank book and a family tree and yet be an empty husk himself—unless he has the spunk to fill his husk for himself.

Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief—we're all in the same boat when we hit this trail.

WE'RE ALL ON OUR OWN.

And we all must make our own terms with life.

The game is up to YOU. It's as much up to you as it was up to your great-great grandpa when he roamed the edge of a Pleistocene swamp and chewed his mammoth raw. You live in a modern city and he lived in a primeval jungle, but you're both playing a lone game. And if you think the other chap is going to mind your business for you, you're plain crazy.

So stop expecting people to help you—

Or understanding you—

Or be nice to you—

Or clear the trail for you—

They've got enough to do attending to their own knitting without picking up your dropped stitches.

So cut out the self pity—

The resentment and envy—

The alibis and excuses—

And the sentimental evasions.

MAKE UP YOUR MIND WHAT YOU REALLY WANT OUT OF LIFE.

FACE THE FACTS THAT YOU, ALONE, ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR GETTING THAT THING FOR YOURSELF—

THEN GO AFTER IT!

Roll up your sleeves, spit on your palms and go after life bare-knuckled.

Will you land?

YOU WILL.

AND YOU'LL LAND JUST AS HARD AS YOU WILL TO LAND.

FOR LIFE IS WON OR LOST WITHIN THE CONFINES OF YOUR OWN SOUL.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Grammar is the logic of speech, even as logic is the grammar of reason.—Trench.

It carries too great an imputation of ignorance, lightness or folly for men to quit and renounce their former tenets presently upon the offer of an argument which they cannot immediately answer.—Locke.

Love one human being purely and warmly and you love all.—Richter.

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—Thoughts while strolling: The benign old fellows who wear black cloth spats. Rube Goldberg, a San Francisco boy, who made good in the city. The Paramount lighted dome—as cold and distant as a winter star. Ruth Etting, who warbles for the records.

With someone would invent a spoon to which caviar wouldn't cling. Young medical students who wear imperials. Those charming elderly ladies wearing dove gray and black velvet neckbands. And drive every afternoon in the park. Suitors at a lunch counter, eating beans.

Patented face lifters—$25. What's become of the grocery cat that used to sleep in the apricot box? A pack of whippets yipping and yapping across town. Who remembers the change from ribbon to the red table cloth? Nothing so cute as a Chow puppy. I'd just as soon Harry Richman didn't put that stuff on his hair.

The brass rail lunch places have crowded out "ye olde inns" with their open fireplaces. And walls lined with mugs. A recital of Indian music. Crazy to be glorified girls. No more Cubism exhibits. Ascot ties with turnover collars, despite the heat.

Wonder how many times Do Wolf Hopper has recited "Casey at the Bat?" Those tight-lipped fellows with a slightly sonorous voice who never smile. And the systematic worldlings who walk at 5 o'clock on the avenue. The impression created by pedestrians who talk to themselves. Most of us do, but regard others who do it as nutty.

That idea Scandinavian people are mental wool gatherers has exploded. They have walked away with some of the highest honors on the stage, screen, in literature and in the air, the past year. An imported car upholstered in snake skin. Harry Hanson, the book critic.

Sign on a dingy old restaurant: "Good food and dancing do not mix." And there is truth in that. Another fortune telling craze. It appeals because it is solely about ourselves. Konrad Bercovici, who writes about gypsies and resembles one. The endless parade of new faces.

NEXT to an earthquake, nothing is so upsetting as a waiter dropping a tray in a smart cafe. Among skilled attaches it brings a shuddery terror. Most headwaiters following a crash hurriedly leave the room until order is restored. When the trained waiter meets with such calamity it is his pride to hide fate. He keeps on his way as though nothing happened. And sometimes he suffers such mortification he does not return for the rest of the evening. The effect of a dropping tray is like the snapping of a taut fiddlestring, and the entire organization is thrown out of gear.

A HEADWAITER tells me an expert waiter can tell at a glance if a necessary article is missing from a table. He tests them by omitting a pepper shaker and using instead two salt shakers. In one instance he had a table set for fourteen people. At a plate he placed an extra spoon. In less than a minute a waiter discovered it. But the only satisfactory way to make a bus boy discover your water glass is empty is to shoot off a cannon.

THE desolation of a waiter who spots a lady's dress with food while serving is pitiful to behold. There is a record in Switzerland of two committing suicide following such unintentional accidents.

A FAVORITE waiter is Slim, who holds forth in a cafe in Houston, Tex. He can stretch a pint of milk into a yard-long ribbon, toss a doughnut in the air and catch it on a plate held behind his back, slide a bottle of catsup down a long counter so it stops in front of you, and play "This is the day they give babies away" on a set of pearly buck teeth.

THERE is a tinge of pathos about those brash cafe diners who snatch for the check at the finish of a meal. I saw one swoop down on a check the other evening at the Colony restaurant without meeting the expected opposition. The Colony is the sort charging $1.25 for a fruit cocktail. And if you think he didn't look silly, don't be that way.

$50,000,000 Battleship

SHE IS A VERY NICE TARGET FOR SOME SKILFUL AIRMAN FLYING A $75,000 BOMBING MACHINE.

This is no reckless statement. General William Mitchell, the ablest man of our flying force, who was flying and fighting in France, month after month, not sitting in a swivel chair, can prove to you that this ship wouldn't live three days if war came on. Also, if real war came, this boat and every one like it, would be hidden away in the harbor, out of danger from the airplanes and submarines, as the fleets of Great Britain were hidden away during the big war; all but submarines and a few fast cruisers, that she had to risk.

If this boat, thanks to folly in our navy, were sent out in war this would happen:

First would come a fleet of swift "pursuit planes," released from the deck of some enemy airplane carrier. These pursuit planes, going 200 miles an hour, would dart back and forth above this heavy battleship, like a hawk flying over a rabbit. And, with light machine guns and light bombs and gas, they would drive the anti-aircraft crews from the deck of the battleship and destroy the anti-aircraft guns in fifteen minutes.

Then would come heavy bombers, dropping their 5000-pound bombs of the highest explosives. Those explosives could sink the ship even without touching it. As General Mitchell has proved, a heavy bomb dropped in the water close to the side of the ship will sink a ship more surely than a bomb dropped on deck.

This $50,000,000 ship is a toy, a nice parade ground for the Secretary of the Navy, or an admiral with gray whiskers.

But how long will the United States supply $50,000,000 apiece to supply targets to the airman of other countries, in case war comes?

How long is it going to take us to wake up and realize THAT THE PRICE OF ONE GREAT BATTLESHIP would give us the air fleet that we need?

We Love Our Brothers

But We Intend to Do Business

Germany is agitated about the American steel combine, including "Big Steel," Bethlehem Steel and other companies. Germans "suspect" the American combination will "lower prices in foreign markets."

Of course, that is exactly the plan. European nations are in combinations to control world markets and prevent American industry from rising too high.

We love all our European brothers, of course, and try to love their "cartels," Europe's name for trusts. But we intend to hold our share of the world's business, whether it be oil in Russia and India, steel, or any other.
